ABC Participates in Recognizing Youth Volunteers during Awards Ceremony

On April 26, Mothers Against Drunk Driving Youth in Action held a Day at the Capital during which volunteers were honored for their dedication to effective awareness programs. Teen representatives from Clark, Madison, Oldham, Marion, and Fayette counties came together to share their respective programs and to participate in the awards ceremony.

The innovative approaches to informing the public on dangerous behaviors such as social hosting, underage drinking, and binge drinking portrayed by each group are accomplished by a lot of work and dedication by the teen volunteers and their leaders. These approaches include sticker shock, in which stickers are placed on packages of beer, or on the doors to coolers, to inform adults not to buy for minors. This program allows the teens to collaborate with retailers who also want their customers to know the law and purchase alcohol responsibly.

Another group pointed out products specifically made to conceal alcohol and how they can lead to dangerous situations such as binge drinking. A group of teens from Clark County developed a local television program in which they interview community leaders and discuss important issues such as underage drinking. The program is shot, produced and edited by the teen volunteers.

Commissioner Tony Dehner presented the Youth in Action Awards that afternoon. He stated, "I am honored to participate in this presentation and see the hard work you all are doing in your community. Preventing underage drinking is ABC's priority and your volunteer work allows another effective tool to curb minor's access to alcohol by educating youth and others in your communities."
